

Prof. Dr. Hussein Anis

Professor of Electrical Power Engineering. Received his B.Sc. from Cairo University; Master's and Ph.D. from McGill University, Canada.

Recipient of the following awards:- Cairo University Award of Distinction "Tamayoz" (2018), State Award of Life Achievement "Taqdirya" (2008), Cairo University's Award of Life Achievement "Taqdirya" (2007), State Award of Excellence in Engineering "Tafawoq" (1998), State Medal of Science & Arts of the First Order (1982), Promotional State Award in Engineering "Tashgieya" (1981).

Published more than one hundred and sixty papers, and co-authored two international books. Managed a World Bank project on Engineering Education Development in Egypt (1991-1999).

Member of the UNDP team to assess university education in the Arab World (1999-2002).

Prepared a feasibility study of the first E-Learning University in Egypt (2005-2006).

Directed a project to automate engineering libraries in Egypt (1995-1997).

Supervised the development of a credit-hour program in Electrical Energy (2012).

Vice President of the Arab Open University (2002-2005); Vice President of Nile University, Egypt (2013-2017).

Member/chair of numerous committees of the Supreme Council of Universities and of Cairo University.

Collaborated with many international organizations including UNESCO, Fulbright, Arab Science & Technology Fund, ...

Represented Egypt in some international events and meetings.

Consultant to many local and international enterprises.

Biography appeared in seven International Biography volumes

Biography appeared in two national Biography volumes (1989 & 1992).

Supervised the Best Ph.D. and Best Master's theses in 2009 & 2014, respectively.

